

Schedule of Events and Topics

Dates	Times	Event or Topic
July 4: Monday	12–15	Phenomenology for the study of motivation: how can we learn about motivation from the experiences of others?
July 5: Tuesday	12–15	Using narratives as data sources to amplify the voices of individuals who are rarely or never heard
July 6: Wednesday	12–15	When access is limited, and movement is restricted during the COVID-19 pandemic: using diaries and essays as data collecting tools to research the phenomena of students' learning motivation
July 7: Thursday	12–15	The significance of culture and context, and the insights and experiences of researchers in defining what was experienced and how it was experienced during the pandemic
-	-	Personal project: gathering stories and concluding the themes that explained the phenomenon examined
		Articles